On-line Application

Please complete all of the following sections.

Section	Status
Personal References	complete this first
Education	incomplete
Experience	incomplete
Activities and Publications	incomplete
Personal Statements	incomplete
Writing Sample	incomplete
Sites	incomplete

Please note that you must complete and submit the Personal References section before you can begin working on any other sections

You may change one or more of your references at a later date, but only if the original reference has not already submitted their letter of recommendation. You are able to check on the status of references received for you by returning to look in the personal references section. Please note that it is your responsibility to ensure that all of your references have been received by the application deadline.

You may complete the rest of the application over multiple sessions by logging in with your Applicant ID and Password. You will be able to save your work, re-enter, revise and continue on to other sections. Once you have completed and saved all of the above sections, the "Final Submission" link will appear on this page. Click this link after you are sure that your application is correct and complete because you will not be able to edit your application after you click the link. Your application is not official unless you click the "Final Submission" link. All applications must be submitted on-line by October 13, 2010 (5:00 PM EDT).

NOTE: All questions require responses, unless marked as "optional."

Important: We recommend that you print out the completed application for your records. The option to print your completed application will be available, once it is submitted.

Personal References

The RWJF Scholars in Health Policy Research Program requires that applicants supply three letters of recommendation. One of the three references must be your dissertation chair (i.e., the person responsible for supervising your dissertation research) unless you can justify why an exception to this requirement is needed. We suggest you direct your references to the RWJF Scholars in Health Policy Research Program website, <http://www.healthpolicyscholars.org>.

Important: You must complete all three references at the same time. If you are not ready to do so, you may come back and complete this section at a later date. However you may not complete any other sections of your application until this section is submitted. In order to allow your references as much lead time as possible, you should complete and submit this section as soon as possible.

As soon as you submit this section, the references listed below will receive an email directing them to fill out a recommendation letter on-line. Thus, it is critical that the email addresses you provide be correct and current. Applicants will not be able to view the letters of recommendation as part of their on-line Application, nor will they be able to request copies of the letters from the Program. All letters must be received by October 13, 2010 (5:00 PM EDT).

Important: Sometimes legitimate emails are deleted as spam. You should confirm with each of your references that they have received an email from YOUR email address, requesting a recommendation letter after you submit his/her information to us.

Please note that you will be able to change the contact information for references that have not yet been received. Changes to a contact (as identified by their email address) will cause a new request for a recommendation letter to be sent to the newly identified reference person. The original person listed prior to the change will also be contacted by the RWJF Scholars in Health Policy Research Program to inform them that they no longer need to submit a recommendation letter for you. Once a letter of recommendation has been received from a reference, however, you will not be able to substitute a different person for that recommendation. You may check the status of letters by returning to this page.

You may also resend a request at any time to a reference. This will generate a new email request to that person. You should use this option when a reference has misplaced or never received the original request. To resend the request simply click on the "resend request" link that will appear next to any reference for whom a recommendation has not yet been received.

All questions require responses unless marked [Optional].

Writing Sample

Submit a writing sample that is authored solely by you, and that you consider to be representative of your best writing, research, and analytical abilities. The writing sample need not be health-oriented and may be a chapter from a doctoral dissertation, a journal article, a paper currently under journal review or other unpublished work. The document must not exceed the equivalent of 25 double-spaced pages of text in 12 point font. The writing sample must format to 8½" x 11" paper and be solo-authored. The sample must be submitted electronically as one file in Adobe Acrobat (PDF) format. (REQUIRED).

Important: The only acceptable document format is Adobe Acrobat (PDF). PDF format is required to ensure proper retention of document formatting and figures. Please limit the size of the file to 2MBs or less.

To complete the submission, follow the two steps below.

Step 1. Locate your writing sample on your computer.

Locate the file on your hard drive or other electronic media.

 TIP: Save, copy or move the file to a familiar location (e.g., Desktop, My Documents).

Step 2. Upload writing sample.

To upload your document to the RWJF Scholars in Health Policy Research on-line application, select the Browse button below to navigate to the document that you located in Step 1. Alternatively, on a PC (but not a Mac), you may type the full path to the document into the text box (e.g. c:/temp/mysample.pdf). Press submit to upload your document.

File Upload Area

Writing Sample:

Once you press the submit button, please be patient and wait for the upload to finish as files may take many minutes to upload, depending upon the size of the file and the connection speed. DO NOT PRESS THE SUBMIT BUTTON MULTIPLE TIMES.

Sites

(Required)

1. Sites: All applications will be considered by the three universities currently accepting Scholars. If you wish to limit your choice due to personal or family considerations, please indicate below.
